Session Information

The A-Level Study Day is a unique opportunity for students to get involved with the research of The Manchester Museum.

In this session A-level students will get first hand experiences of working with a live animal collection, taking scientific measurements using high quality equipment and uncovering how this translates into conservation in action.

Through a series of lectures and practical activities, pupils will utilise Museum collections to understand how research is undertaken and will come face-to-face with practicing researchers at The University of Manchester.
